How does the ForexCopy system work? This service enables users to earn additional passive income by copying the deals of successful traders (a Copy-Investor) or allowing other users within the system to copy their trades (a Copy-Trader).

The first option implies that you will receive profit from the trades of the Copy-Trader you have chosen. The second one means that you will receive a commission for each of your Copy-Investors.

Choose which trading style suits you more and discover new opportunities for online trading.

- Commission for profitable USD trade. You get a fixed commission for each closed profitable trade. The commission that the Copy-Investor must pay for 0.01 lot of each trade.
- Commission paid by the Copy-Investor for 0.01 lot of any trade no matter whether it is closed with a profit or a loss.
- Profit share in %. You get a profit from each successfully closed trade. In this case, you need to specify the percentage of successful transactions that will be paid by your Copy-Investors. This method is the most popular among Copy-Traders.

- Commission per day. The Copy-Investor pays you a fixed amount in USD regardless of whether you are trading today or not. This amount also does not depend on the number of open trades per day. At the same time, the Copy-Investor copies all your trades.

- Copying ratio

Here you can navigate the volume of copied trades, i.e. set the ratio of the Copy-trader's transaction volume to the volume of your trades.

For example, you set a ratio of 2 (Trader's lot) to 1 (Follower's lot). This means that the copied trade in your account will open with a lot that is 2 times smaller than the volume of the transaction opened in the trader's account.
